

LightSand and its OEM and Developer Partners have tested a wide variety of devices for compatibility with the LightSand product family. You can find a current list of LightSand products and Data Sheets at: www.lightsand.com. This compatibility matrix was generated for your reference based on product testing and operation of products in customer installations. The devices listed are deemed compatible with LightSand products in a LightSand infrastructure. LightSand cannot provide direct support for the end nodes or applications but is committed to ensuring that the LightSand infrastructure is operating correctly while interoperating with these products. The products listed in this document are not guaranteed to work in all configurations, but LightSand is committed to helping customers with a valid LightSand Support Contract to resolve any compatibility issues.
